Blacking for Boots & Shoes,

Superior to any ever offered to the public.
ROBERT COCHRAN,
No. 48, North Fourth-street, next door to the Green Tree Inn, Philadelphia.
WITH confidence offers to the public, his superior Portable and Liquid blacking, so much admired and approved of, which is manufactured by himself only.
This blacking possesses every desirable quality, being of an oily nature, it preserves the leather perfectly soft to the last, and keeps it from cracking—it is a jet black, affords a most superlative polish, entirely free from any offensive smell, and so clean as not to soil the whitest muslin or any other substance it may chance to run against, and will keep in any climate—it has a peculiar advantage in being put up in a portable manner, and may be packed without possibility of risque, with the nicest clothes or goods. The Portable Blacking is much adapted for gentlemen residing or travelling in the country, where materials for making Blacking is not to had, and as for cheapness and elegance, far exceeds any ever imported or manufactured in the union. Where is sold as above, the beautiful Chinese Liquid Blacking, for ladies morocco boots and shoes, which makes the oldest morocco boots or shoes appear the same as when new. Sold wholesale at the manufactory, as above.
N. B. Please observe that each bottle it sealed and signed by the proprietor, to prevent spurious impressions being imposed on the public.
It may be had at the following places in Alexandria.——Dr. Stabler and Richard Woods on Fairfax street,—Dr. Semmes, & Dr. Little's apothecary shops, on King-street.—Isaac Entwisles, shoe factory, and Thomas Mount's factory & Hardware store on King-street. sw3m March 20

Valuable Family Medicines.

JUST received direct from the proprietors, the following valuable Medicines, all of which have been in use for a number of years past, in almost every part of the United States; have been highly patronised by people of the first respectability; and approved by those who have had occasion to make use of them, for the cure of those disorders, for which they are severally calculated.

Dr. Lee's Genuine (Windham) Bilious Pills,

Universally known and used throughout the United States as a Family Medicine. The fame of these pills has become so great that many have attempted to counterfeit them—to guard against this, the proprietors have procured a Stereotype Label, and each box of Genuine Lee's Pills will hereafter be enclosed in one of these labels, with these words on the sides: "Lee's Genuine Windham Billious Pills," and on the end of the Label the words, "Samuel Lee, patentee, &c. I. Thompson, agent, joint proprietor," &c. and should any be offered for sale without said Label on them, the purchaser may be apprised that they are counterfeit.

Dr. Thompson's Celebrated Eye-Water:

For the cure of inflamed and sore eyes of almost every description. This valuable preparation comes highly recommended from the most respectable sources. Price 50 and 25 cents a bottle.

Dr. Rawson's Genuine Itch Ointment:

A certain and safe cure for that disagreeable complaint, as well as other irruptions of the skin. Price 37½ cents a box.

March 15 A P. GOVER.

Notice,

To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.
BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. RATCLIFFE.
Fairfax Court-House. Va.

Wanted,

A YOUNG MAN of sober and steady habits, to superintend a fishery. None need apply but one who is well acquainted with seine hauling, and can come well recommended. Enquire of the Printer.

PITY, AN ORNAMENT TO BEAUTY.

"The brightest gems but cloud that face,
Where Love a spotless heaven can trace!
For how could art or borrow'd rays
Add splendor to the solar blaze?
One jewel only Love can prize—
'Tis Pity's pearl in Beauty's eyes!"

We publish the following beautiful description of night, from that excellent paper entitled 'The Village Record.' The gentleman who communicated this extract from Chateaubriand, is, however, mistaken in his belief that the volume has never appeared in our language---it is now lying beside us.—Ed. Balt. Chronicle.

Friend Miner—Should the following be deemed worthy a place in the Parterre, it is at thy disposal. It has been recently translated from the writings of a celebrated French Traveller, and I believe never printed in our language.

A SUBSCRIBER.

SPECTACLE OF A BEAUTIFUL NIGHT IN THE DESERTS OF THE NEW WORLD.

An hour after sun-set the moon appeared above the trees in the opposite horizon. A balmy breeze which she brought with her from the east, seemed to go before, as her refreshing breath in the forest. The queen of night ascends gradually in the Heavens: now she follows silently her azure course, now reposes on piles of clouds, resembling the summits of lofty mountains crowned with snow. These gradually unfurling themselves were spread into zones of satin whiteness, and dispersed into thin foamy flocks, or formed in the Heaven's resplendent banks, so pleasant to the eye, as almost to induce a persuasion that one could feel their softness and elasticity

On earth the scene was not less ravishing—the soft and silver light of the moon descended among the foliage, and projected streams of light into the profoundest shades. The river, which flowed at my feet, by turns lost itself in the woods, and by turns re appeared—all brilliant with the constellations of night, which were multiplied upon its undulating bosom. In a vastly extended prairie on the other side of the river, the light of the moon slept motionless upon the green. Birch trees scattered here and there through the marsh, and agitated by the breeze formed Islands and shadows, floating on a motionless sea of light. Around me all was silence and repose, save the dropping of the leaves, the brisk transit of sudden flaws of wind, and the occasional hooting of the bird of night; but afar off was heard the rolling solemn sound of the Cataract of Niagara; which in the stillness of night reverberated from desert to desert, until it ultimately expired in the distant solitary wild.

The grandeur and stupendous solemnity of this scene, are altogether inxpressible. The most beautiful nights in Europe can convey no adequate idea of them. In vain, in our cultivated fields, does imagination seek to expand itself—it encounters on every side the habitations of man—but in the country of deserts, the mind delights to plunge into an ocean of forests, to wander on the borders of boundless lakes, to hover over the gulfs of cataracts, and if it may be uttered, to stand alone in the presence of the Deity.

"LO! THE POOR INDIAN."

The following description of those Indians, whom we have recently been "cutting up in style," is extracted from Bartram's account of Florida. It is difficult to see the exterminating sword sent among such a happy race without some feelings at least of commisseration for their fate.

[Savannah Gazette.

"Seminole, or Lower Creeks, a tribe of Indians inhabiting East and West Florida. They enjoy a superabundance of the necessaries of life; contented and undisturbed, they appear as blyth and free as the birds of the air, and like them as volatile and active, tuneful and vociferous. The visage, action and deportment of a Seminole is the most striking picture of happiness in this life. Joy, contentment, love and friendship, without guile or affectation, seems inherent in them, or predominant in their vital principal; for it leaves them but the last breath of life. On one hand, you see among them troops of boys; some fishing, some shooting with the bow, some enjoying one kind of diversion, and some another: on the other hand are seen levies of girls, wandering through orange groves, and over fields and meadows, flowers and berries in their basket, or lolling under the shades of flowery trees, or chasing one another in sport, and striving to paint each others faces with the juice of their berries."

[Sampson's Hist. Dictionary.

SENTENCE OF DEATH

Pronounced by judge BERRIEN against Jonathan Evers, lately tried at the superior court in Effingham county, (Georgia) and found guilty of the murder of a Mr. Jones.

The State,
vs. } Murder.
Jonathan Evers.

The prisoner having been put to the bar, and the indictment and verdict of the jury having been read, it was demanded from him if he had aught to say why the sentence of the law should not now be pronounced against him, and having answered that he had not, the following sentence was thereupon pronounced by the court:

Prisoner!—I am required to announce to you the sentence which the law awards against the murderer. By a jury of your country, you have been convicted of murder by implied malice—of shedding the blood of a fellow creature without sufficient provocation—under circumstances which manifest, in the language of the law, an abandoned and malignant heart. In the performance of this awful duty, there is imposed upon me the further obligation of endeavoring to awaken you to a true sense of your miserable situation. Exhausted by the latigues of your trial, I feel how unequal I am to the task—but I will not therefore shrink from the effort to discharge it. Listen with the humility which becomes you, to the revolting story of your crime. Strive to bring your feelings into subjection to the solemn duties which now await you. Penitently cast yourself before the mercy seat of heaven, and seek, through the mediation of the Redeemer, the forgiveness of that crime which has already hurried you to the verge of an awful eternity.

You are young—would that I could add, you are innocent. The bloom of youth still plays upon your cheek—would that I could add, the consciousness of rectitude beams from your countenance. But it may not be. The sad reality is before me, and even in your youthful visage I behold the deep, indelible impressions, with which guilt ever marks her fallen victims. Alas! what is man? The child of error—the sport of every furious passion—a helpless vessel on the tempestuous ocean of life, without a rudder to guide it from the shoals and quick sands of vice. Such is the wretched condition of him, who madly refuses to yield himself to reason's guidance. Such is your miserable lot for having in one sinful moment, blindly given yourself up to passion's dictates.

When I retrace the story of your guilt I am constrained anxiously to inquire, by what dreadful infatuation you were led to the commission of this awful crime. The deceased was your relative—the companion of your youth—your friend. No previous resentment inflamed you against each other. You met on this fatal day of guilt and crime, and the smile of good will dwelt on your countenances. Even your early wrangling was marked with the characteristics of friendly strife. You enquired in a tone of surprise why he was angry with you. He answered in the language of friendship, by reproving the turbulence of the disposition which you had manifested, but rather in pity than in anger. Ah! if a considerate humanity had influenced those around you—if they had been tender of that blood which may not be shed without the most atrocious guilt, in unlawful strife, I should have been spared the melancholy task which is this day demanded at my hands. I would not for uncounted millions, have the feelings of that man who could fan the flame, nay, who could listlessly stand by and witness, without one kindly effort to allay its fury, the risings of that demoniac passion, under the impulse of which an inconsiderate youth has been plunged into such a sea of guilt and crime, as that through which you have buffeted. But you did plunge into its awful wave. Dupe of the criminal folly of those around you, victim of your own lawless and ungoverned passions—you forgot the claims of humanity, the ties of kindred, the emphatic mandate of that God who gave you being. You seized the concealed and deadly instrument of your vengeance—secretly, under cover of the night, bared its point against your foe, and by its reiterated plunge into his unprotected bosom, marked the fell purpose which possessed your soul. The deed of death was done. Would that I could say, under the mere impulse of wild, but momentary passion. It may not be.—Your satiated fury betrayed the deliberate malignity, with which you had sought to gratify the resentment, so suddenly lighted up in your bosom. You closed the fatal instrument of your vengeance—with an effort to secrecy, favored by the shades of night, and which escaped the general observation, cast it from you—and then, in the bold but desperate and infatuated denial of your crime, sought the concealment of your guilt. The instrument of your vengeance was found. The life-blood of your fallen foe was gushing from the wounds it had inflicted. But the demon, which had impelled you to murder, now prompted you to take refuge in falsehood. You sought to deepen the gloom which shrouded the death-bed of your hapless victim, by charging him with the crime of intended murder; of having first used against you an instrument of death. I cannot wish that this accusation were true. I am constrained to say there is not the slightest probability that it was so.—Every particular of this direful transaction, pronounces it foul and slanderous—the desperate refuge, of desperate guilt. Much as it enhances your crime, and little as I delight in the contemplation of human depravity, I rejoice that it is so. The hapless victim of your vengence sleeps in the tomb, hurried by your lawles hand to his dread account.—To you, guilty as you are, time is yet allowed to make your peace with heaven. O! do not spend it in that continued indulgence of those passions which have thus early blasted your earthly happiness. Do not, I conjure you, waste it in unavailing hopes of mercy from this miserable world, whence you are too surely hastening. Look rather with the anxious solicitude which sincere penitence alone can inspire, to that divine mercy which is never sought with contrition, and sought in vain. Look to the transactions of your past life. Shrink not from the view of your crimes. Delay not the fervent penitence, which can alone efface them.

Do you want an additional motive for repentence? Seek and find it in the unutterable anguish of parental grief—an anguish excited by your crimes—incapable on this overpowering moment of all other consolation, but that which your penitence shall afford. Behold the tears of your aged parents! They are the silent reproaches which are extorted from bosoms, bursting with agony, over the recollection of the crimes of him to whom they have given being. They tell you of the headstrong obstinacy of your childhood—of the idle profligacy of your youth—of the fruits of their rejected admonitions, in the melancholly catastrophe which has thus early closed your sad career. They point to the grey locks, which age has blanched with the symbol of honor, which you have covered with dishonor and shame. While they yet hover around your prison, ministering to you with a tenderness, which even your guilt cannot extinguish, their fixed and melancholly gaze is turned to the darksome path, which your crimes have marked out for their descent, in sorrow to the grave. To such an appeal, you cannot, you will not be insensible. No. Nature will assert her rights in your bosom.—Filial duty will lead you in penitence to the foot stool of your Redeemer. His mercy will yet snatch your immortal spirit from the awful eternal perdition, which is the just but terrible doom of unrepented murder.

Miserable young man! We must part.—It remains only, that I pronounce the sentence of the law—

It is considered and ordered by the court, that you, Jonathan Evans, be re-committed to the common goal of the county of Chatham (there being no sufficient goal in the county of Effingham) for safe and secure custody—that you be taken from thence to the place of public execution in the county of Effingham, and there, on Friday, the twenty-eighth day of May next, between the hours of ten o'clock in the morning, and two o'clock in the afternoon of that day, that you be hung by the neck until you are dead—and may Almighty GOD have mercy on your soul!

BREACH OF PROMISE OF MARRIAGE.

"Perfidious man! thy parent was a rock,
And fierce Hyrcanian tigers gave thee suck." VIRG.

Mary Shame
vs. } In the district court for the city and Co of Philadelphia, April 27th 1819.
Nich's Johnson

This was an action brought for the promise of breach of marriage

The plantiff was a modest, discreet and artless young girl, of irreproachable character, living in humble retirement with her widowed mother, in the township of Roxborough and county of Philadelphia: the defendant, young, hadsome, insinuating and designing, became acquainted with her in the month of March, 1817, and afterwards visited at her mother's house, paying his addresses to her. Having stolen her affection, under a solemn promise of marriage, he seduced and deflowered her. As soon as the mother discovered the extent of the injury, which was in the month of June, she complained of his conduct to the defendant, and reproached him with his brutal behaviour. He admitted that he had promised to marry the plaintiff, and repeated his promises. He continued to visit there until the month of August, when the mother became uneasy, reminded him of his promises; he repeated them, and fixed a day in the month of September for their nuptials. The young lady made preparations for the happy event; but when the day arrived, the defendant refused to marry her. He gave no reason—he said she was a nice girl, and too good for him. Eventually this suit was brought, the object of which was to punish the defendant, and set a public example in a case where the injury was irreparable.

The plaintiff's case was conducted by Peter A. Brown, esq. who painted in glowing colors the case of his client; and the defendant was represented by John Switt, esq. who made an able defence, although in a bad cause.

The jury, after an impressive charge from Judge Barnes, retired, and in a few minutes returned with a verdict of damages, 2,000 dollars.

London, March 18.

SINGULAR EXPLOSION.

We copy the following article from another paper. In medical annals, and still more in common tradition, we have instances narrated of drunkards falling a prey to spontaneous combustion. To ridicule the extravagance to which this opinion has been carried, is probably the foundation of this jeu d'esprit; but their may be also a hit intended at medical evidence in the cases of Coroner's inquests, and at the returns of the jury.

"On Monday fortnight, a coroner's inquest was held in Broad-street, St. Giles's, before Wm. Gell, Esq. one of the two coroners of the county of Middlesex, on the body of Patrick Roper, an Irish labourer, who had met his death in a very singular manner.

"Molly Roper, wife to the deceased, deposed, that for many years back her husband had been in the habit of drinking whiskey to a great extent; that at the end of every week, on receiving his wages, he retired to a public house, and remained there till his money was exhausted. That about 12 o'clock on the Saturday night, he returned home as usual, very inebriated.—That this deponent was then in bed, and desired her husband to blow out the candle. That the deceased raised the candle to his head for that purpose; immediately a tremendous explosion took place, and the whole room seemed filled with liquid fire. That this deponent fainted, and knows not what afterwards took place.

"Henry Thompson, surgeon, deposed, that about twelve months ago he was called to attend the deceased, for a hurt he had received in his leg. That he found the constant habit of drinking whiskey had reduced the deceased to a deplorable habit of body. That the wound in consequence still continued open. That yesterday morning he called as usual, to visit the deceased, and found the house in a state of great disorder. That on entering the apartment of the deceased, a most shocking sight presented itself. That the two hind quarters of the deceased had been thrown with great violence against the opposite walls. That his ribs were scattered round the room. That one arm, with the shoulder, was on the top of a chest of drawers, the other seemed to have been projected on the bed, and was lying behind it. That his head was not in the room, but, that there was a hole in the ceiling through which it appeared to have passed. The deponent further said, that he had no doubt whatever, but that the deceased came by his death in consequence of his system being so saturated with alcohol, or spirits, as to render his breath inflammable; and that, attempting to blow out the candle, he must have taken fire and exploded. That during his attendance on the deceased, he had observed the whiskey had so pervaded his frame, that flies, in alighting on his hand or even attempting to fly over him, fell intoxicated at his feet. Mr. Thompson likewise stated, that many instances of a similar death are mentioned in the medical books, but that the only case of the kind which had ever come within his personal knowledge, was during the Peninsular war, where an officer's wife exploded, in consequence of having drank a considerable quantity of gunpowder in tea.*

"Lawrence Meagher deposed, that his wife and he occupied the room immediately over the deceased; that late on Saturday night, the bed in which they were sleeping was raised with such violence as to throw them out on the floor, one at each side.—That, to their great horror and amazement they found on raising the feather bed, a human head, forced through the paillasse.—That the neck where it had been torn from the shoulders was still bleeding. That the eyes continued to open and shut, and that the teeth still chattered. That upon regarding it attentively, they recognized the features of their poor friend, Pat. Roper.

"The Jury, summoned from the neighborhood, brought in a verdict of—"Died by imprudently blowing out a candle after getting comfortably drunk."

* Quere—Did not the witness mean gunpowder-tea?

New-York, April 26.

The Amity, Manhattan, and Euphrates were announced, from Liverpool, and all came up last evening in 21 days passage, having sailed, together on the 3d inst. and been in sight of each other nearly the whole time. By these vessels the editors of the Mercantile Advertiser have received Liverpool papers to the 2d inst. London to the 31st, and Lloyd's Lists to the 30th March, inclusive.

One hundred thousand dollars of U. S. six per cent stock was put up at auction in London on the first inst. and withdrawn, the highest bid being 95.

A letter from a respectable house in Liverpool to another in this city, dated 1st of April says, "New-Orleans Cotton sold this day at 11¾d. Very prime would fetch a little more." The same letter quotes Georgia Uplands at 11½ a 13d.

A friend at Liverpool writes—"The cession of the Floridas, the news of which was received by the Magnet, has made considerable stir among the politicians; but the public attention is more particularly engrossed by the accounts received of the approval of Gen. Jackson's conduct. Parliament is pledged to take the subject into consideration. The ministerial party have evinced a backwardness with regard to it, for which reason, it is said, the opposition are urging a discussion."

French Five per cents, March 27, 65,50

Tranquility is restored in the French councils, the new peers having been qualified, and taken their seats. The chamber of deputies have rejected the proposition from the peers relative to the law of elections by a handsome majority.

St. Jean d'Angely, who had obtained permission to return to France, arrived at Paris, March 10th, and died the day after of Gout in the stomach.

The fortune of the Prince of Peace is estimated at 100,000,000.

The Ghent Journal affirms that generals Rigaud and Grouchy, are on the eve of returning from America to France.

ALEXANDRIA:
MONDAY MORNING, MAY 1, 1819.

Capt. Biddle, of the Ontario sloop of war, just arrived at Annapolis, from a two years' cruize round Cape Horn and in the South Sea, is at present in this city. It is hoped the public will be allowed to enjoy the benefits of his observations during this cruize; and that we shall have an account from him, or some other officer of the ship, of the many occurrences during the voyage and whilst in South American ports, which are worthy of note. Such an account would excite an interest something allied to that which was generally produced by the first authentic accounts of Com. Porter's gallant and adventurous cruize in the same seas. [National Intelligencer.

Capt. J. D. Henley, commanding the frigate Congress, now lying at Annapolis, and ready for a voyage even more extensive than that from which the Ontario has returned, has also been on a visit to this city. This vessel, it is said, will visit the East India ports; and it is believed will be the first national ship of the United States which has ever visited those ports. In her passage down the Atlantic coast, she will land at Rio Janeiro Mr. Graham, our minister to the Brazils. As soon as he is prepared to embark, the vessel will sail.

American consulate, Cape de Verd Islands, Isle of May, March 4, 1819.

SIR—I would thank you to make known for the information of the American Merchants, that in future a new duty of fifty milrees per pipe will be imposed on wines and spiritous liquors imported into these Islands, instead of the former duty of 24 per centum on the invoice cost; and that a new tax has been levied on salt exported of fifty cents per mai, permitting it sold at such prices as may be agreed on between the seller and the purchaser, and that the additional fifty cents is exacted for the best, while inferior qualities are offered much less.

I am very respectfully, Sir, your obedient servant.

SAMUEL HODGES, Jun.

Collector of Customs, Boston.

His excellency Mr. Poletica, ambassador from Russia, arrived at this port last evening, in the ship Magnet, from Bordeaux. [N. Y. Mercantile Adv. April 27.

FROM IRELAND.

We have received by the John Dickinson, Belfast papers to the 28th of March.

The price of American Potashes at Belfast the 20th, was 56s. Flaxseed, new, 113 9d. old 105. Flour 28s. cwt. Clover Seed 6 to £7.

The typhus fever which long prevailed in Ireland, has begun to subside. It had entirely ceased in Ulster.

On the 17th of March, Lord Castlereagh laid on the table of the House of Commons, a copy of the Convention between his Britannic Majesty and the United States.

[Ibid.

A gentleman who arrived in town yesterday, passenger in the Magnet, from Bordeaux, left Marseilles on the 10th March. The Erie sloop of war arrived there the same day in 6 days from Messina, where she left the residue of the American squadron, all well. Mr. Shaler was to embark in the Erie for Messina. A schnr arrived from Philadelphia on the 8th, and another schr was to sail for Philadelphia, in a few days. Ship Superior, Hamilton, of Philadelphia, and an hermaphrodite brig, both bound to India; a ship belonging to Providence, and two Salem brigs, were in the port.

The Magnet brings Bordeaux papers to the 30th ult. Brandy is quoted at 350 to 360; Spanish dollars, 5,50; exchange on London, 23,65. Sales, 26th, Carolina cotton, fine qual 200f per 112 lbs duty paid; Havana coffee, 1,41½ in bond. Sales at Havre, 18 to 20th—St. Domingo coffee, 1,25; Bourbon, do 1 92½; Louisiana cotton, 2o2½; Carolina rice, 34. [Ibid.

Extract of a letter, to the editors of the Boston Patriot, dated Isle of May, March 8.

"The Oriental brig of war La Irresistible, capt Daniels, who captured the pirates schr. off this place on the 8th ult. informed that off Lisbon, he captured an E. Indiaman valued at 3400,000. manned and ordered her for S. America; that he had on board a rich cargo, & considerable specie, which he had taken out of his prizes, and was then in pursuit of a fleet the other side of the line. La Irresistable mounted 16 24-pounders, and a compliment of 150 men.—Capt. Daniels is a native of Massachusetts, and his 1st lieut. Mr. Child, of Warren, R. I.

"A schr. belonging to Rhode Island, from Havanna under Spanish colours, bound to the coast of Africa, put into Port Praya, St. Jago, about the 18th January last, for water and supplies, and was seized and condemned by the Junta, on suspicion of being engaged in privateering against Portuguese commerce in consequence of being armed and having on board 10 men more than were mentioned of the ship's papers, & 1 trunk women's clothes.—The supercargo Mr. Martin, of Providence, together with the Spanish captain and part of the crew, took passage in the schr. Jane Marsh, Stowell, for Bissou up Rio Gambia, Africa, and the residue of the crew have been forced or board the several vessels that have entered the harbor by the Governor General.

Shad and Herrings

CAN be had, in any reasonable quantities, and at moderate prices, at the White-House Fishery

of the Belvoir estate, on the river Potomac; and persons from the country, as well as water customers, are invited to that shore, where they may expect the best treatment, and every facility, in getting such supplies as they need, which that well known fishery, and the utmost attention of the subscriber, can afford. Having been long experienced in that business on the Delaware river, and having taken the fishery for several seasons, he has caused a complete outfit to be made, not only for taking Shad, as heretofore, but Herrings, of which it is well known that almost any number may be caught at that shore, when the gluts are in the river. A very complete and commodious fish-house, on the spot, may be made use of by persons disposed to put up fish extensively, and who bring barrels and salt for the purpose. A number of barrels, and a quantity of salt, may probably also be had at the fish-house.——As the

Sandy-Point Herring Fishery,

at the mouth of Pohick Creek, on the same estate, is carried on this season by Mr. John Henderson, there will be the greater certainty that customers will not be disappointed in herrings, the two fisheries being near together: but country customers are cautioned not to come too early for herrings; as, of late years, they have several times done, and by returning home have missed of getting their supply, which afterwards was plentiful.

SALES AT AUCTION.

Public Sale.

BY virtue of a deed of trust from Daniel McPherson and wife to the subscriber to secure to the Mechanics' Bank of Alexandria the payment of a debt due from John McPherson and Son, will be sold at public sale on the premises, on THURSDAY, the 10th day of June next, a certain tract of land, known by the name of ROUND-HILL, in the county of Fairfax, lying on both sides of the Colchester road, adjoining the lands of George Triplett, Dr. Richard Mason, and others, containing 173¾ acres, be the same more or less. This land is handsomely situated, and has lately received considerable improvements. Few farms of its size in the county, perhaps, present higher inducements to a tasteful proprietor.

The terms are one-fourth cash, and the remainder in three equal instalments at 12, 18 and 24 months, with interest from the day of sale. W. VEITCH, Trustee.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NORLET HERBERT, esq. or Vaccine Institution.

THE small pox having appeared in Alexandria, such persons as have been vaccinated by the subscriber are invited to attend at his office, on St. Asaph-street, between Prince and Duke streets, to have their arms examined. Indigent persons are also invited to the same place for the purpose of being vaccinated. The subscriber will attend at his office every day in the week except Sunday, from 7 o'clock until 10 in the morning, for the purpose of receiving them.

He proposes also to be less particular than heretofore in the investigation of their claims to the benefit of the institution, as may respect their indigence and length of residence in town. The subscriber earnestly requests all such citizens as may be acquainted with persons liable to contagion, to send them without delay as above directed, where they will be served effectually and gratuitously.
